DISSERTATION

Title: Mobility and Migration in the European Union

Abstract: my thesis deals with the determinants of internal migration (mobility) and external migration in the European Union. I am researching the factors that influence mobility and sorting, especially in the differences between EU citizens and extra-EU citizens. My thesis also deals with the influence that mobility and migration has on the politics of the communities where movers settle. My research is set in three EU countries: the UK, Germany and Italy.
